

BROKERAGE COMMISSION RELATED TO TRANSFERS OF FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Transfer of financial instruments from another broker/personal DEPO account opened by the Client with any depository to the Client's brokerage account opened with the Company, as well as transfer of financial instruments from the client's brokerage account opened with the Company to a brokerage account opened by the client with another broker / personal DEPO account opened by the Client with any depository is a complex transaction and the possibility of its execution depends on the specific conditions of the transfer. The Company's Brokerage Commission for the execution of such order is determined individually depending on the type of the assets, their volume and place of transfer after the Company receives all the documents and details necessary for the execution of the transfer.

Transfers from/to brokerage accounts held in the name of third parties are strictly prohibited.

In addition to the above Brokerage Commission fees related to transfers of financial instrument, the Client shall reimburse LIME TRADING (CY) LTD (the 'Company) for all expenses incurred by the Company in the process of executing the transfer.

In order for the Company to accept the order for execution of the transfer of financial instrument, the Client is obliged to provide the Company with the correct details of the sending/receiving broker/depository, as well as all documentation requested by the compliance department in accordance with the KYC (Know Your Client), SOF (Source of Funds) and DD (Due Dilligence) procedures of the Company.

The Company has the right to refuse to transfer financial instrument.